

Sirs:

The people of the United States of America are now aware that the NSA has been spying on its citizens, collecting data on phone conversations and doing so indiscriminately. Your proposal is another intrusive and greatly unwelcome governmental Peeping Tom activity, this time into America's finances. If enacted, I fear your next bit of regulation will end up being expanded to require investors to provide your organization with justification for their investment decisions. Or perhaps you'll seek to listen in when my spouse and I discuss our finances in our bedroom?

No Sir. This proposal is invasive, expensive and MOST unwelcome. If you've wondered why the American people are becoming distrustful of our government, you need look no further than this proposal to find another reason.
